NAMES.

DWALE, or DEADLY NIGHT SHADE.

A.

G. Στρυχνος νυκτιχος.

L. Solanum Lethale.

I. Herba Bella Donna.

G. Wildt Nachtschatt.

F. Solatra Dormitif.

S Mora mayos.

D Dalma-kende Nacht-schade.

PLACE.

This Plant will Grow where ever it can get Root.

DESCRIPTION.

This is the Largest of this Tribe of Plants, having thick, long, that send up many Stalks, four or five Foot high, firm, Woody, and of a Dull Brown on the Other, as are the footstalks of the are smooth, Soft, Shining, of a full Green, with deep Veins, ligh The Cup is divided with five gashes, looking like Single Leave in the Middle. The Flowers 2, are of the Bell kind, divided into five Parts, of a Dirty Green, at the Bottom on the outsi Dirty Purple towards the Ends. There are three Ribs to ev In every Flower are Five Chives, 3, of a whitish Green, with lighter Colour. The Style is of a pale Purple with a light Green Green Seed Vessel, 4, which when ripe 5, is of a fine shining Black, taind many Black, rugged Seeds, in a thin purple Juice. 6 a Seed Ve Magnified.

VIRTUES.

The Leaves are used to discuss Tumors that are hard and This Plant is of so poisonous a Nature as never to be used int

T. Sheldrake delin